Mr. Sanborn was a court appointed commissioner for this project. Information on the Haena Hui Partition includes Court proceedings, descriptions of the land, information on owners, legal documents, and correspondence. In addition there is information on the following activities in which Mr. Sanborn was involved: the estates of which he was the executor; real estate activities; work as an appraiser; information on the 1946 tidal wave; farming activities; Land Court transactions; and personal family papers including information regarding his grandson, Alan Sanborn. There is information on Princeville Plantation, tax documents, correspondence, miscellaneous papers, land grants, tax assessment, Kalalau, kuleanas and Kalihiuni land records, and accounts.

Note on the Sanborn Papers

Before hurricane Iniki in 1992, a man who frequently ate at Wrangler's Restaurant in Waimea, mentioned to Mike Faye that he found a box of old records in the house he was working on in Koloa. He knew that Mike liked old things. One day the box appeared at Wrangler's. Mike took it home where it sat around for a year. Mike then gave it to Susan Remoaldo, who in turn gave it to the Kauai Historical Society in 1996. This box of old records contained Walter Sanborn Papers.

Biographical Sketch

Walter Foss Sanborn was born on August 30, 1877 to John William and Mary Jane Foss Sanborn in Hyde Park, Massachusetts. After studying at Hyde Park Grammar School and Hyde Park High School, Mr. Sanborn graduated from Burdette Business College in 1898.

He arrived in Honolulu in September 1901 and moved to Kauai that same month, accepting employment with the McBryde Plantation in October 1901. On September 7, 1906 Mr. Sanborn married Angeline Deverill at Hanalei. They had four children: Walter Foss, Jr., John William, Percy D., and Helen K. Angline Sanborn died on September 29, 1925 at Kula on Maui. Shortly after she passed away, he married Alice.

Mr. Sanborn's career was multi-faceted. The following information was taken from a letter written on February 26, 1948 by Mr. Sanborn to the Real Estate License Commission in which he documented his career: from October 1901 through about August 1903 employed by McBryde Sugar Co Ltd.; then he was with the Department of Public Works as Inspector of construction on Kauai until October 1905; and from October 1905 to July 1927 he was manager of Princeville Ranch Company. In addition, he served as deputy tax assessor for the Hanalei District from 1918 until 1932; agent for the Bernice P. Bishop Estate from 1918 until 1942; a W.P.A. area engineer 1936-1941; he became a United States Commissioner in 1936; and served as Chairman of the Board of Review for the taxation division beginning in 1938. In the late 1930's Mr. Sanborn was the agent to grant marriage licenses for the district of Hanalei.

Mr. Sanborn was a Mason, a member of the Shrine, and an associate member of the Society of Residential Appraisers. His favorite hobby was fishing, (Men and Women of Hawaii, 1954, page 579).

Mr. Sanborn's son, Percy, died suddenly of a heart attack in 1955. He was only 41 years old. In 1956 Mr. Sanborn was seriously injured when a Kilauea Plantation truck's trailer swerved and struck his car. Grief over his son's death, greatly reduced Mr. Sanborn's enthusiasm for recovery. At the time his son-in-law, Alan Davis, was CEO of C. Brewer Company which owned Kilauea Plantation. He arranged for Mr. Sanborn to be admitted into Maunalani Nursing Home in Honolulu. Mr. Davis had been instrumental in establishing the facility. A routine check up indicated that Mr. Sanborn had contracted tuberculosis. He was transferred to Leahi Home where he passed away December 23rd, 1956 (Reminiscences of a Life in the Islands, Helen Kapililani Sanborn Davis, 2000 p.115).

Mrs. Davis' book contains the following tribute to her father by the Honolulu Advertiser: "The Hanalei District of Kauai is not going to be the same without Walter Foss Sanborn. His tall, active figure, still erect in his late seventies, his shock of unruly hair, now snowy, his twinkling eyes and an assumption of gruffness

That they belied, had been familiar in the district since he came there some 55 years ago to manage the late Albert S. Wilcox's plantation. Now in retirement, he made his home in a rambling shore side dwelling, surrounded by broad carefully tended lawns and gardens, within reach of the village social center. Outspoken always, Walter Sanborn sometimes antagonized associates who could not believe that anyone could pull so many facts out of his mind without grievous error. Yet that was what he did, and differences of opinion were swept away before an avalanche of facts. Behind his gruff exterior was a soft heart, as every child knew instinctively. He was a sucker for kids." ((Reminiscences of a Life in the Islands, Helen Kapililani Sanborn Davis, 2000 p.116.)
